Whaller Welcome to the sphere Organization manager

Whaller is a secure collaborative and social networking platform that guarantees the privacy of its users' data. Thanks to an exclusive system of "spheres" (sealed, independent spaces for communication and collaboration), users can create and manage an infinite number of networks from one single account.

On Whaller, everyone masters their communications, communities and audience.

This guide is dedicated to helping organization managers discover the many features and options available to them.

An organization manager is a user who is in charge of administering an organization's settings, members and spheres.

Create new spheres/organizations, invite members Lets you create a new sphere Cor organization Cor, and invite people Cor join your networks.

Chat

Visible when you're in a sphere. Allows you to start a real-time private conversation with mentioned members.

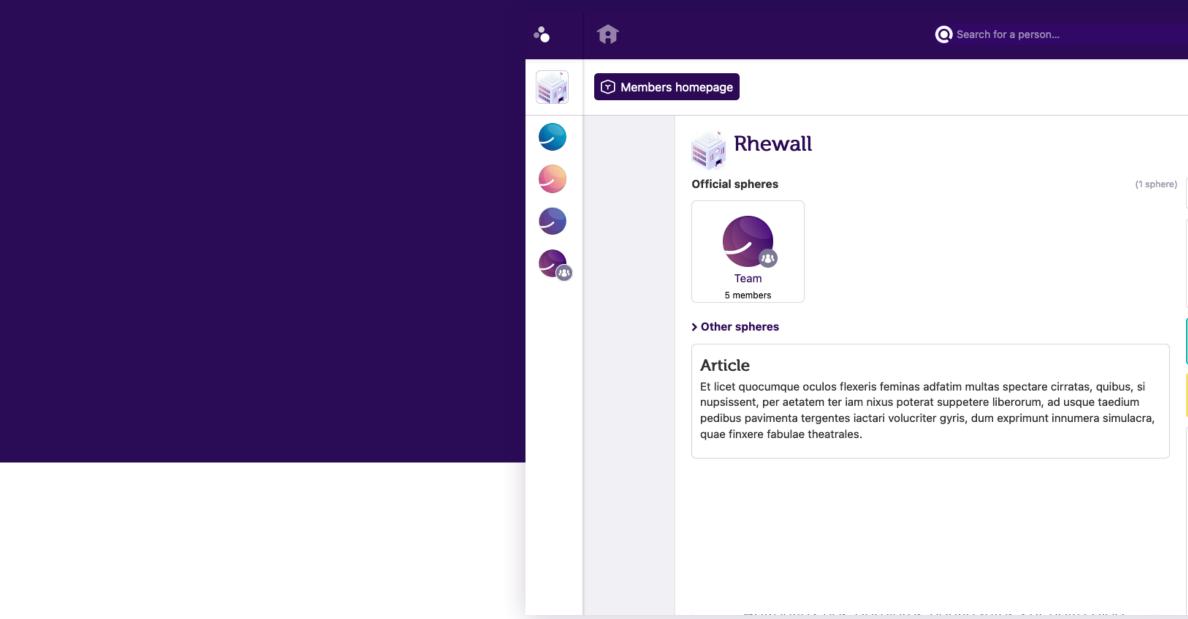

Help and resources

Provides quick access to online support, FAQ, the Whaller roadmap (list of upcoming developments), new product releases and a platform to submit suggestions for improvement.

Organization portal

The person who creates an organization is by default the organization manager.

From the organization portal, organization managers can administer their network: requests, members and visitors, spheres, analytics, settings,...

They also have access to features like resource planning, badges, store, shared sphere calendar, etc., depending on the offer their organization is subscribed to.

In the "Admin" pages, organization managers can access and manage:

Manage requests

On the "Requests" page, organization managers can find all pending, accepted, refused or inactive requests to join.

For each request, they will have an overview of the invitations, which they can then accept or reject.

When someone requests to join their organization, organization managers have a notification on their "root" page (a red flag) and on the members portal (red dot).

On the "Members" page, organization managers can add or remove people, export the list of members or assign members different roles such as:

- Organization manager
- Allocator 👕
- Visitor 💼
- A custom role they have created

Manage spheres

On the "Spheres" page, organization managers can access the settings for all spheres in the organization and administer them individually.

- Name a sphere administrator
- Type and visibility of the sphere
- General sphere settings
- Tools available
- Automatic messages
- Personalization of the sphere

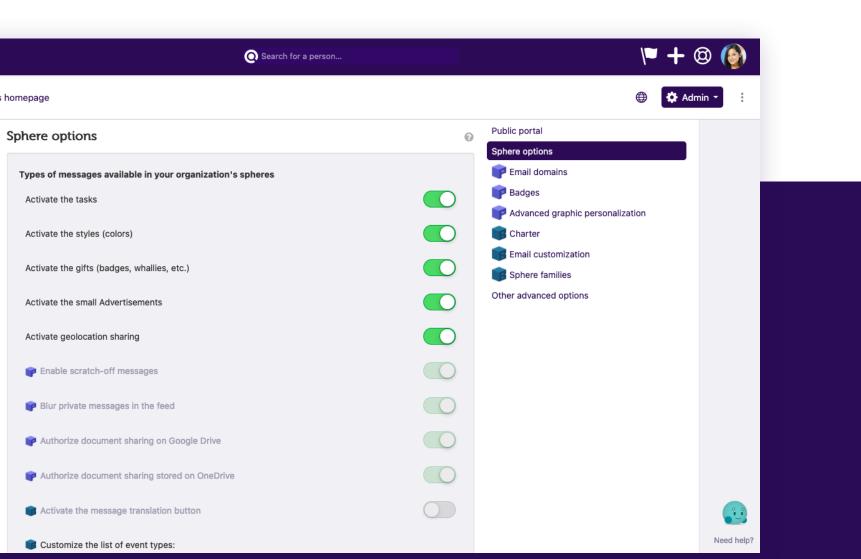

Global settings

In the "Settings" section, organization managers have access to general information, the public portal (homepage) and sphere options. They can also choose to activate premium features, such as:

- Charter
- Custom emails
- Sphere families

- Badges
- Advanced graphic customization

ACTIVITY

Roles & profiles

On the "Roles & profiles" page, organization managers can create new roles with specific rights for members of their organization.

They can also define custom profile fields for members to complete in their

On the "Members" page, organization managers can assign these new roles to select members.

Widgets

In the "Content management" section, organization managers can edit all widgets on the organization portal and in each sphere.

Widgets can be located in several places on the interface: right or left columns, sidebar, banner.
